

ANTHONY BATEMAN MENTALISATION BASED TREATMENT – 1 day seminar

Anthony Bateman, MA FRCPsych is a Visiting Professor in the Psychoanalysis Unit at University College London. He is a Consultant Psychiatrist and Psychotherapist and Honorary Senior Lecturer at University College and Royal Free Medical Schools, Barnet, Enfield, and Haringey Mental Health NHS Trust, and St Ann's Hospital, London. He is also a Visiting Consultant at the Menninger Clinic, Baylor College of Medicine, Houston Texas and a Clinical Tutor at Barnet, Enfield & Haringey Mental Health Care Trust.

In collaboration with Peter Fonagy he has developed and manualised an innovative treatment for personality disorder (Mentalisation Based Treatment – MBT). He organised and successfully completed the first randomised controlled trial of day treatment of personality disorder in the UK and is now investigating the effective elements of treatment and undertaking a further randomised controlled trial of a less intensive out-patient treatment. The research has led to major national and international interest because treatment was found to be more effective than standard care.

Seminar Aims

- To provide a basic outline of theoretical aspects of mentalisation relevant to clinical practice with individuals
- To help participants to understand basic mentalising skills for use in daily work

Venue: Sunnybrae Function Centre, The Coach House, Regency Park
Enter from Tikalara off South Rd or Gallipoli Grove off Regency Rd

Date Thursday, 11th March 2010 9.30am - 5.00pm

Who should attend: Anyone interested in Mentalisation Based Treatment

This seminar coincides with the start of the Clipsal 500 car race in Adelaide. The Fringe Festival will also still be on as will the Festival, which means accommodation will be heavily booked. We therefore suggest that if you require accommodation, book it now.
